Charlevoix County Probate Court

The Recovery High Program is a collaborative effort between BASES, Charlevoix Probate Court and Boyne City Alternative Education that was started in 1999. The program provides extensive substance abuse education, intervention and treatment services to young people and their families. For teens that need the most intensive level of services, they live in a court-licensed, specially trained foster home, attend a drug free alternative school with significant court presence and participate in intensive substance abuse services offered through BASES. Since 1999, Recovery High has had over 340 participants in the most intensive part of the program (Phase One) that have come from 41 different counties in Michigan. The program is unique in its ability to have less intensive teens participate in various components of the program as well. If a teen has a supportive living environment and is doing well in their own school, they can attend some or all of classes or groups at BASES that match their specific needs. The level of need is determined by an assessment with BASES staff. Drug testing and involvement of family in the weekly Parent Group are also important components of the program
